There is also the billion people worldwide who do not enjoy water on tap, and women who spent more than 200 million hours every day to collect water for domestic use.

You can make a difference on Mandela Day 2013 and contribute to our aim to provide 67 Hippo rollers to 67 water-stressed communities in South Africa.

Blair Tassell from the U.S. currently works in Colombia and was curious when she saw the 67.67 Challenge on LinkedIn. She started a Crowdtile/campaign site: http://tilt.tc/MJKr

“When I saw what this project was doing for these families, making it easier to obtain water, I was elated, excited and encouraged. I wanted to help make the lives of one family easier. I have been blessed with an awful lot in my life and I feel like I need to give back to someone, somewhere.”

Blair and her friends have already raised almost $500 and will soon be able to sponsor 4x Hippo water rollers!
